In cases where a complaint needs more time to be evaluated, the customer will be informed of the reasons for the delay within one week. EULAR handles complaints confidentially; they are recorded and kept for 10 years. Together with your online registration, you will have to pay the fee with the usual credit or debit cards. A discount is offered to individuals purchasing from selected low and middle income countries. Lastly, I found the basic science section, particularly immunology, to be far from sufficient for the intended audience, mostly rheumatology trainees, internists, family physicians and scientists. Overall, the book would provide an excellent and valuable reading material for anyone dealing with rheumatic disorders. Supplements*Supplements will be considered for work including proceedings of conferences or subject matter covering an important topic*Material can be in the form of original work or abstracts.*Material in supplements will be for the purpose of teaching rather than research.*The Guest Editor will ensure that the financial cost of production of the supplement is covered.*Supplements will be distributed with the regular issue of the journal but further copies can be ordered upon request.*Material will be made available on Saudi Medical Journal website For each of the 50 chapters of this June 2018 edition, has been written by at least two dedicated experts in the field from two different European countries. EULAR will make the reimbursement without undue delay and not later than 14 days after EULAR was informed about your decision to cancel your registration. If the number of course participant places is limited, EULAR generally considers registrations in chronological order of receipt. It covers 1437 pages and is divided into seven sections: introductory aspects of rheumatic disease, inflammatory arthropathies, connective tissue diseases and vasculitis, cartilage and bone disease, regional and generalized pain syndromes, miscellaneous and evaluation and management. This textbook is an essential reference for paediatricians, rheumatologists and all professionals involved in the care of children with rheumatic conditions. If a EULAR employee cannot solve the issue directly in an appropriate way and to mutual satisfaction, you can consult the EULAR arbitration committee. 8.2. No Warranty for Technical or Medical Information The courses are based on the information available at the time of their creation. Each chapter consists of: learning points; up-to-date review with explanatory figures and tables; summary; key references. Description of the Courses 2.1. In general EULAR offers online and live courses. The fee for the courses remains unchanged for all courses during the scheduled course period. 4.2. Members of International Faculty All authors and contributors are working on a voluntary basis and without compensation to provide the content of the course and to update it regularly. The examination is run annually at a given date and time period, which you will be notified in advance. Presenting evidence-based reviews on the treatment of musculoskeletal and autoimmune diseases, the focus is on modern educational goals and techniques. Revised fees may apply to registrations for subsequent scheduled courses (prices are subject to change). Please contact our Customer Services team at support@bmj.com or call +44 (0)207 111 1105 to place your order at the reduced rate of €86.50* including delivery. The first 4 chapters (120 pages) cover basic science (immunology, neuroendocrine immunology, molecular and cell biology and genetics of the rheumatic diseases) and the remainder of the book deals with clinical topics. Copyrights to the teaching materials remain with EULAR. 2.3. Live Course The live courses generally take place in form of a conference in a European city and usually last for about two days. 9. Interruption and Cancellation of Courses 9.1. No Interruption No interruption is possible for the online courses. 6.2. Examiner The examiner is a medically trained, independent person responsible for surveillance of the online examination. The course covers a number of modules, followed by an examination at a given date each year. The complaint procedure is made public on the ESOR website. Should it seem that, in rare cases, a customer's expectations were not met, the concern or complaint should be addressed to the following email: education@eular.org. As the state of the art and medical science is constantly changing through research and new scientific findings, EULAR does not warrant the completeness, accuracy and actuality of the technical or medical information. The EULAR Textbook found its origin in the successful EULAR Online Course on Rheumatic Diseases, an ongoing educational EULAR offer. Your appeal must contain your first and last name, your address, email, the course identification and an explanatory statement on why you disagree with the results. You will receive the decision of the arbitration committee by email within 4 weeks after the receipt of your complaint. Kvien, Oslo, Norway, Prof. The last section includes a rather valuable chapter on critical appraisal of evidence, which is an absolute necessity for every practicing physician in the contemporary world of evidence based medicine. For further information on our data processing activities, kindly refer to EULAR's Data Protection Policy available on EULAR's website, currently under . Concerns/complaints will usually be addressed within one working week after receipt. In case of hardship, EULAR will reimburse the fee less the costs incurred by EULAR, such as the commissions that EULAR had to pay to PayPal and/or to the credit or debit cards or the payment of non-refundable accommodation, etc. The fee published when you register is decisive. A certificate of attendance might be issued at the end of the live course, where applicable. Posting is via courier delivery to ensure safe receipt. If you do not take the examination within the year, either because you have not completed all modules or for any other reason, your course will automatically be extended free of charge for one subsequent year. Firstly, although the book is based on the modules of the online course, there are some omissions from the original modules. Written by experts from EULAR/EUSTAR and based on the EULAR Online Course on Systemic Sclerosis, the ten chapters deal with different organ systems and cover the management of particular conditions, including life-threatening situations and pregnancy. Each chapter begins with a list of learning objectives and ends with a list of summary points.The book is excellent on the clinical aspects and the material is evidence-based and includes plenty of in-text references, although the reference list for these referenes is not included in the book.I only have a couple of minor criticisms of this book, which, I hope, get addressed in the next edition. Please contact our Customer Services team at support@bmj.com or call +44 (0)207 111 1105 to place your order at the reduced rate of €86.50* including delivery. If the issue cannot be solved by a EULAR employee directly in an appropriate way and to mutual satisfaction, an independent third party can be consulted as an arbitration committee.
